I just spent hours and read all Trumps proclamations and executive orders and I cant see how almost every company is fucked starting on Jan. 11 at 9:30 EST.
You guys with doubts really need to see how great this man is. If you have doubt, read his executive orders.
Do I start shorting the market?

Anonymous ID:1zJLMtrg Tue 29 Dec 2020 00:47:07 No.299070399 Report

By the authority vested in me as President by the Constitution and the laws of the United States of America, including the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (50 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.) (IEEPA), the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.), and section 301 of title 3, United States Code,

I, DONALD J. TRUMP, President of the United States of America, find that the People's Republic of China (PRC) is increasingly exploiting United States capital to resource and to enable the development and modernization of its military, intelligence, and other security apparatuses, which continues to allow the PRC to directly threaten the United States homeland and United States forces overseas, including by developing and deploying weapons of mass destruction, advanced conventional weapons, and malicious cyber-enabled actions against the United States and its people.

Key to the development of the PRC's military, intelligence, and other security apparatuses is the country's large, ostensibly private economy. Through the national strategy of Military-Civil Fusion, the PRC increases the size of the country's military-industrial complex by compelling civilian Chinese companies to support its military and intelligence activities. Those companies, though remaining ostensibly private and civilian, directly support the PRC's military, intelligence, and security apparatuses and aid in their development and modernization.

That's okay, I get most of my miniature modeling paint from Taiwan, not Mainland. It is going to suck that I'm probably not going to be able to get bootleg translated cartilages of old NES and SNES games that only came out in official release from Japan, from Mainland China.

Also, I took Mandarin in college, but also Japanese. I guess I won't be traveling to Mainland in China in the next few years, so I should focus on perfecting other core languages.

Also, the document uses the word "persons" to cover both individuals and entities. It is because US law changed a few years ago, to give personhood to companies, but Trump is using it in another way, in this legal document to cover companies and individuals. It's like the lobbyists that lobbied for companies to have personhood years ago, just fell on their own blade if they have money connected to China.

Or that's how I understand it as pre-law but not a lawyer myself.

I studied law in CrimJ and other undergrads. But not in law school. I'm fiddling with the LSAT right now, which is just logic games. I just follow a lot of diverse law news.

Here's the problem, or bad news. But I doubt it will happen in this case. Lower court judges can block. But they are not going to block until the EO comes in effect, and MIGHT not block at all.

He's my cope. Helping Tie Tok as a Judge, is plausible deniability. But from this EO, if I am understanding it right, we are going in total economic war with China by the 11th. The lower court Judges will have to hear appeals by companies each. I don't think this will be a class action with all companies at once. Because we are going to take out any company that refuses for days, and it's going to be total economic war, in that no sane Judge, far left or not, will want to have their name associated with this. No person wants to put a target on their head if they are a "person" getting Chinese money.

It basically lets you investigate the Judges financial connections as well. You are going to have to pass a lot of hands with that money, from Chinese Communists to the Judge, to cover up that kind of shit.

Other than that. If all these lower court judges that hate Trump, blink, which they probably will. No one is going to try to block this. And Mainland China is going to be economically cut off like Cuba.

Also, I forgot to add, ... attacking Tik Tok was probably the President testing the waters in how powerful the lower court judges were.

Lower court judges did try to obstruct his previous EO, regarding Tik Tok, ... but largely failed. They are still trying to block his previous EO with that, but failed.

It seems like he knows this is going to stick as well, when he attacks ALL Chinese Mainland companies doing businesses in the US.

If he was using the Art of War, attacking Tik Tok was his control experiment.

He certainly is a great orator, even though the media does everything in it's power to claim that's not the fact. Trump can spit ball and talk off the cuff, while Obama that MSN worships stutters the moment a teleprompter is off. .... The only time I have seen Trump truly slip, when asked medical questions about Corona early on, he started to spit ball, when it was clear he is not big on any kind of medical information. He knows how to suck up information, and discuss it in an open room, but it is clear he never watched House, ER, or Grey's Anatomy in his life to pretend he can spit ball that.

I respect him very much, and would like to think he's a genius shogun of some sort directing all of this. But, there is probably a group and faction of some sort that tapped him for this. I don't know if they are military, Business Jews that can see the writing on the wall that other Jews can't, or something else, or a mixture of those things. But he probably is working with others. And General Flynn seems to be a serious player, so there are probably more military people that also tapped him.

Imagine anyone else not only using this action, but using this language against China. Trump isnt letting us down.
>I, DONALD J. TRUMP, President of the United States of America, find that the People's Republic of China (PRC) is increasingly exploiting United States capital to resource and to enable the development and modernization of its military, intelligence, and other security apparatuses, which continues to allow the PRC to directly threaten the United States homeland and United States forces overseas, including by developing and deploying weapons of mass destruction, advanced conventional weapons, and malicious cyber-enabled actions against the United States and its people.

>Key to the development of the PRC's military, intelligence, and other security apparatuses is the country's large, ostensibly private economy. Through the national strategy of Military-Civil Fusion, the PRC increases the size of the country's military-industrial complex by compelling civilian Chinese companies to support its military and intelligence activities. Those companies, though remaining ostensibly private and civilian, directly support the PRC's military, intelligence, and security apparatuses and aid in their development and modernization.

>At the same time, those companies raise capital by selling securities to United States investors that trade on public exchanges both here and abroad, lobbying United States index providers and funds to include these securities in market offerings, and engaging in other acts to ensure access to United States capital. In that way, the PRC exploits United States investors to finance the development and modernization of its military.

To protect the United States homeland and the American people, I hereby declare a national emergency with respect to this threat.

Have a little trading perspective advice

Remember when Moses commanded the Jews to slaughter those who worshipped the calf idols? Let's analyze the reason for this.

This was the age of Taurus, the bull. The cow was sacred to everyone in the age of Taurus. This prohibition upon the slaughter of cattle came out of necessity. A farmer would have his cow, and in times of crop disease or drought, he may out of desperation butcher his cow to feed his family. Next year, he would have no cow to work his fields or to butcher, and thus his family would starve. However, the philosophy of Taurus was not sustainable with the temporary population growth it enabled. This civilization that spawned in the fertile crescent eventually left vast deserts as its legacy, the direct result of this aggressive agrarian expansion. In response came rigid hierarchies, lack of upward mobility, prostitution and slavery.

So Moses saw the long-term destructive nature of the cow worshippers and came down from the mountain to kill them all, blowing the Ram's horn. Thus came the age of Aries, the age of the trader slash herder, the age of the Jews, and the dominant philosophy (pantheistic animal totemism) disappears everywhere but India, where unique environmental conditions (monsoons, heavy phosphorus deposits) make the old agrarian philosophy sustainable. What else can you do in a vast desert for food, except herd? So after the massive killing spree spurred by Moses, the population of civilization explodes yet again to strain its limits, causing prostitution, slavery, famine and chaos. Along comes Jesus, with yet another moral basis for humanity to live on. The dominant philosophy (Judaism) loses most of its market share to Christianity. So what was the solution to this resource crisis? What's the astrological sign you see Christians advertising on the backs of their cars?

That's right, the nordic invention of the fishing net saved humanity from the wrath of the apocalypse. Thus came the age of Pisces.

So we're at a new resource shortage. Global peak phosphorus happened in 1989. Phosphorus can be recovered though, so it isn't too critical, but it is definitely bad for growing grain. We consistently as a planet consume more grain every year than we produce. Eventually those fat stockpiles are gonna hit bottom, and then shit hits the fan. We have already seen tortilla riots in Mexico, and commodities shortages and export controls in nearly half the world. Oil is going to become a little scarcer, but isn't going to run out anytime soon. The Saudi fields have peaked and Kuwait's are about to do so, but it doesn't matter. There was a strategic decision to bleed the middle east dry of oil long ago. We still have plenty of shit we can drill elsewhere. America's deserts have plenty of light sweet crude, I assure you.

So what resource are we going to run out of? There's a very important one, one that is required to grow things. One that is required for human beings to survive. Around 2008, T Boone Pickens put 200mil of his own money into securing rights to this resource. The first ETF for this resource appeared a couple years ago, and Sydney is opening the first futures market for this resource. My hedge fund heavily speculates in this resource.

What resource is this? What age are we coming into? Fill in the blank!

there are so many. filtering, selling it to dry areas, etc.

surface water belongs to the state, a landowner can pump whatever water he finds below the land. It's called the rule of capture. He can pump as much as he wishes and sell it to whoever wants it, wherever they are, no matter if he dries up his own water and his neighbors' water along with it. And that's the problem. "The more Pickens pumps, the more he threatens to deplete the Ogallala, which in 1998 produced 66.7 percent of all the groundwater used in the state. By exercising his rights, he is also prompting other property owners to use up a waning resource as fast as they can. He may well be starting the last great water war in Texas." The danger is obvious and confirmed by historical precedent: When water is pumped to the point that it becomes too expensive to pump deeper, the Panhandle will run dry and become depopulated. it can be handled like a regular marketable commodity like oil

A thing to remember: Commodities trading is the buying and selling of these raw materials. Sometimes it involves the physical trading of goods. But more often it happens through futures contracts, where you agree to buy or sell a commodity for a certain price at a specified date.

With futures contracts, commodities traders bet on how the commodity's price will move. When you think the price will go up, you'd buy futures, or go long. When you think the price will drop, you'd sell futures, or go short.

an easier answer: find land with water and start pumping it yourself, be it for yourself or to make a profit

Wouldn't this just reduce the west's influence in chinese shit? Or is the idea to just starve them of investment money?

If the Department of Defense is not going to do their Job because they are too busy sucking off Netanyahu and Xi and Pfizer and Moderna and so many other in a bukkake fashion, these won't matter and they will be selectively enforced.

If Israeli Intelligence is found on any reports from intelligence or defense, that mention is to be removed as if it never existed. Out of sight and out of mind.

Generals been letting Chabad run the show, they forgot to do their own jobs. Now they get paid to rape infants or something, whatever the Generals want is theres. Not really, it belongs to Chabad and Xi and Pfizer and Moderna and LGBTG+ and anyone else who has money to pay off the "defenders" of the "US Constitution." Talmuds and the minorities are defended, all others, pay with cash.

Battleships ended with ww2 but at the start the US had no idea they'd be eclipsed by the aircraft carrier. So I don't see how the government just knew ahead of time that battleships would be passed by the CV and allow their BBs to be sunk. Also remember they recovered most of what sank and used it anyways. A lot of work to do if one chooses to believe the government allowed it to happen.
